

Why choose SIP?

VoIP telephony allows you to run multiple calls at the same time and call from anywhere in the world, using the same number and significantly save on costs. Unlike a physical copper phone line, VoIP numbers are not attached to any geographic location, meaning you can call from any international number or any area code, providing a huge degree of flexibility for businesses.

Top tip:

Companies benefitting from VoIP Telephony have a phone system connected to the internet, which like any other connected device is vulnerable to malicious activity. So we like to encourage awareness and recommend your system is installed by qualified providers who can lock down your firewall and only allow traffic from your ISP.
